This booklet is a list of health care providers who have experience working with individuals who are deaf or hard of hearing. This list is not intended to limit your options of providers. You have the right to choose any provider whether or not they are listed here.

Included in the list are providers who have therapists proficient in American Sign Language (ASL) or who are deaf or hard of hearing themselves. All providers have a legal responsibility to provide services in a way that will ensure effective communication. Effective communication means that important medical information must be clearly understood by you, and you must be able to express important information to your provider. Examples of the aids and services that may help with effective communication include qualified interpreters, assistive listening devices, note takers, written materials, television decoders, and telecommunications devices such as TDDs. Upon request, a provider must provide an appropriate service or aid to ensure effective communication, and they must pay for it. Providers do not necessarily have to provide a specific device or service that you request if another aid or service that is more cost effective will still enable clear, effective communication. They cannot, however, assume a specific accommodation will work for you without your input into the decision. There are several laws that protect your right to have these accommodations provided to you, including the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA).

For example, if you need an interpreter in order to understand what your health care provider is telling you, then the provider is required to provide you with one. The provider must pay for the cost of an interpreter, even if the cost of the interpreter is more than the fee that the provider is paid for your visit. You should also understand that some very small providers may have an “undue burden” defense to the legal obligation to provide accommodations. For example, where there may be continuous visits over a long period of time, the cost of interpreters may so far exceed the resources of a sole practitioner that the burden would be considered unreasonable and therefore may not be required. If your provider is unable to provide the accommodation and you are covered by HealthChoices, your HealthChoices plan must cover the cost of the accommodation.

You should contact your provider before your appointment. Explain to them your needs so that they can accommodate those needs at the appointment. If you need an interpreter, for example, this will give the provider time to arrange for an interpreter to be available. Please help the provider to assist you by giving the provider enough time to arrange for the interpreter.

Everyone’s situation is different. If you have questions regarding your rights and reasonable accommodations by providers, please call the Disabilities Rights Network intake line at:

Phone: 1-800-692-7443

Americans with Disability Act – A federal law enacted to stop discrimination against people with disabilities.

Assistive Listening Devices (ALD) – Amplification instruments that are designed to be helpful in specific listening situations.

American Sign Language (ASL) – Distinct visual-gestural-kinesthetic language.

Office of Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services (OMHSAS) – The office within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Department of Public Welfare which collaborates with other state offices to ensure local access to a comprehensive array of quality mental health and substance abuse services that are reflective of the needs of Pennsylvania citizens, effectively managed and coordinated, and responsive to a dynamic and changing health care environment.

Provider – A person, firm or corporation that provides behavioral health or medical services or supplies.

Behavioral Health Rehabilitation Services (BHRS)/Wrap around Services – Services for children and families are provided in the family’s home and community to prevent out of home placement. “Wrap around” services are a child-centered, strengths-based system.

Child and Adolescent Service System Program (CASSP) – Core principles that should guide service delivery. Services should be child-centered, family-focused, community-based, multi-system, culturally competent and least restrictive.

Consumer-Oriented – Services should meet the needs of the consumer, not the needs of the service provider.

Culturally Competent – Services provided by individuals who have the skills to recognize and respect the behavior, ideas, attitudes, values, beliefs, language and practices of a particular group of people.

Deaf – A condition in which sounds, including speech, have no meaning for ordinary life purposes. Visual communication such as sign language, writing, text reading and speech reading is necessary.

Hard of Hearing – A condition in which there is some degree of hearing loss varying from mild to moderate to profound. The sense of hearing is partial, but not completely functional for ordinary life purposes. The hearing loss can be acquired at any age between birth and late adulthood.

Health Choices – The name of Pennsylvania’s waiver program providing mandatory managed health care to Medical Assistance recipients.

Managed Care Organization (MCO) – An entity that manages the purchase and provision of physical or behavioral health services.

Mental Health/Intellectual Disability (MH/ID) – Generally, community mental health and intellectual disability services are administered through county MH/ID offices. These offices are part of county government and are overseen by a county administrator. In Allegheny County, drug and alcohol prevention and treatment services, and mental health services for children, adolescents and adults are supported by the Department of Human Services Office of Behavioral Health.

Services for persons with intellectual disability are supported by the Department of Human Services Office of Intellectual Disability.

Service Coordination (formerly case management) – Direct assistance to adult and children consumers of the behavioral health system, including problem resolution, advocacy and referral to other appropriate services.

Service Coordination Unit (SCU) – Local behavioral health services provider and intake point for accessing the mental health or mental retardation system.

Sign Communication Proficiency Interview (SCPI) – A conversational approach to sign language skills assessment which measures a person’s expressive and receptive language proficiency.

Sign Language Interpreter – A professional who is able to listen to another person’s words, inflections and intent while simultaneously rendering them into the visual language of signs using the mode of communication preferred by deaf consumers.

Teletypewriter (TTY/TDD) – A device that enables deaf people and others to communicate by typing interchange over a regular phone line.

Video Relay – A free service that allows persons who are deaf or hard of hearing to conduct a video phone call through a certified ASL interpreter via a high-speed internet connection and a video relay solution.

Vocational Rehabilitation

Office Of Vocational Rehabilitation in Allegheny County

The Pennsylvania Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, or OVR, provides vocational rehabilitation services to help persons with disabilities prepare for, obtain, or maintain employment. OVR provides services to eligible individuals with disabilities, both directly and through a network of approved vendors. Services are provided on an individualized basis. The OVR counselor, during face-to-face interviews, assists customers in selecting their choice of vocational goals, services and service providers. An Individualized Plan for Employment (IPE) is developed, outlining a vocational objective, services, providers and responsibilities. Certain services are subject to a Financial Needs Test (FNT) and may require financial participation by the customer. Counseling and guidance, diagnostic services, assessments, information and referral, job development and placement, and personal services such as readers or sign language interpreters are provided at no cost to the individual.
